Happy May Day!

As spring brings new life and growth, I have been thinking about the many ways some people and groups are engaged and continually productive. Young students, older retired people and all ages in-between, can be individually or along with others, involved in learning, in projects, or helping those in need. We at Care Net are THANK-FULL for your prayers and support.

Last week, a Save the Storks bus came to show us how they are configured to offer private peer counseling, pregnancy tests, and ultrasound pictures to the people who step into their bus. It was amazing how they had prepared in order to “be where the people are”. Also inspiring was the retired couple who volunteer to drive the buses, once they are completed in the Midwest, to their various destinations, offering tours along the way. Check savethestorks.com for more information. Another local mobile ministry is a food truck ministry called A Father’s Heart, in Rochester. I was able to meet a pastor who shares the gospel with hot meals. They are on Facebook.

Similarly, here in and around Wayne County, the number and diversity of helpers and ministries is continually changing and growing according to people’s needs and abilities. Have you heard of Family Promise, which is a homeless program in its development phase in Wayne County?

Let’s not wait until we are older, or less busy, or regret not being younger and stronger and more able to do whatever God has called us to do. Let’s say, “ Yes, God.”
